Inspiration from the Community

"If imitation is the sincerest form of flattery, then Kansas has received its share of flattery from across the nation in the fight against drugs. The Kansas Meth Watch Program is being considered for implementation or has been copied by several cities, counties and state agencies in 12 states. The Meth Watch Program's purpose is to limit the accessibility of key meth chemical ingredients, to reduce the amount of meth ingredients stolen or sold and to provide law enforcement agencies with valuable information when a suspicious transaction takes place."

- Pittsburg Morning Sun

supported Sexual Assault Nurse Examiners (SANE) who perform forensic sexual assault examinations for domestic violence and sexual assault victims, school resource officers who create a safe and secure learning environment for children by providing a frontline to crime and drug prevention at school and the Accelerated Domestic Violence Court Docket by focusing on children's needs who witness violence.

Some programs have developed specific services for the underserved areas of their communities. Some programs have their brochures and literature to assist victims in various languages or have access to interpreters. Shelter facilities are accessible to those who are differently abled or alternative safe shelter is provided. Volunteers in the rural isolated areas provide transportation. Kansas has a toll-free number to assist local programs with AT&T interpreter services, 888-END-ABUSE.

FEDERAL LOCAL LAW ENFORCEMENT BLOCK GRANT (LLEBG) OCTOBER 1, 2003—SEPTEMBER 30, 2004

The Kansas Criminal Justice Coordinating Council (KCJCC) oversees criminal justice federal funding from the Federal Local Law Enforcement Block Grant (LLEBG) program. The U.S. Department of Justice, Office of Justice Programs, Bureau of Justice Assistance provides funding for this grant.

The Federal Local Law Enforcement Block Grant assists law enforcement agencies initiate new or facilitate current efforts to reduce crime and improve public safety by purchasing new equipment for the departments. In FY 2004, the KCJCC awarded $365,939 to 82 grant projects.

Priorities for LLEBG funds for FY 2004, were items that provided for officer safety with an emphasis on radio communication and technology upgrades. In regard to weapons, emphasis was placed on handguns.

Inspiration from the Community

"We received LLEBG funds to purchase walkie talkie radios. With the new radios, our police officers can communicate efficiently in and out of all police vehicles and buildings. The officer's safety and effectiveness has been enhanced greatly by having radios. We use the radios every working hour and minute to communicate from patrol car to patrol car, to City Hall and to the Sheriff's Office. Police officers are safer on the job by being in constant communication. Having the radios also has helped quicken our response time in serving Altamont residents."

NATIONAL CRIMINAL HISTORY IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM (NCHIP)

The Kansas Criminal Justice Coordinating Council (KCJCC) oversees criminal justice federal funding from the National Criminal History Improvement Program (NCHIP). NCHIP is administered by the Bureau of Justice Statistics, Office of Justice Programs, within the U.S. Department of Justice.

The National Criminal History Improvement Program (NCHIP) continues the U.S. Department of Justice's efforts to build an accurate and useful national system of criminal records. Availability of complete computerized criminal records is vital for criminal investigations, prosecutorial charging, sentencing decisions, correctional supervision and release, and background checks for licensing and purchasing of handguns and applying for child-care positions or other responsibilities involving children, the elderly and the disabled.

In FY 2004, the Kansas Bureau of Investigation (KBI) received $982,673 to continue the Kansas Integrated Court System (KICS) implementation. The system is managed by the Office of Judicial Administration (OJA). NCHIP funding allowed OJA to interface with the state central record repository at the KBI. The interface allows the movement of prosecution and court disposition data from KICS to the computerized criminal history system at KBI. Obtaining the data electronically eliminates the need for paper disposition reports and manual data entry at the KBI. As a result, more dispositions move into the criminal history database and are readily available via the Interstate Identification Index (III). This interface has improved the state's ability to provide accurate and complete data to the National Instant Criminal Background Check System (NICS) and all other criminal justice programs.

NATIONAL FORENSIC SCIENCE IMPROVEMENT ACT (NFSIA)

The Kansas Criminal Justice Coordinating Council (KCJCC) oversees the Paul Coverdell National Forensic Sciences Improvement Act (NFSIA) grant. The grant is funded 100 percent by the National Institute of Justice.

NFSIA provides funding for the improvement of quality, timelines and credible forensic science services for criminal justice purposes. The NFSIA program funds crime laboratories and medical examiner's offices based on population and crime statistics. The program permits funding for expenses related to facilities, personnel, computerization, equipment, supplies, accreditation, certification and education and training.

In FY 2004, the KCJCC awarded a total of $33,026 to two grant projects. This funding allowed the KBI and the Sedgwick County Regional Forensic Science Center to send its forensic scientists and laboratory managers to enhanced training in crime scene investigations.

FEDERAL RAPE PREVENTION AND EDUCATION GRANT (RPE)

In FY 2004, nine grant projects received $315,834 to implement and continue sexual assault prevention programs. In 2004, the RPE grant funded projects provided 2,148 educational sessions to 14,247 session participants. The grant requires the education sessions and trainings focus on efforts to prevent sexual assault and rape including efforts to increase awareness in underserved communities and among individuals with disabilities.

RSAT assists states and local units of government develop and implement residential substance abuse treatment programs within state and local correctional and detention facilities in which prisoners are incarcerated for a period of time sufficient to permit substance abuse treatment. The primary program need for RSAT is securing the resources necessary to provide more treatment opportunities for adult and juvenile inmates. The grant program's goal is to reduce recidivism by implementing residential substance abuse programs that provide individual and group treatment activities for offenders in residential facilities operated by the state.

In FY 2004, the KCJCC awarded a total of $1,088,829 to the Kansas Department of Corrections (DOC) and the Larned Juvenile Correctional Facility. DOC received $629,255 to support its on-going therapeutic community program that has both a facility and community component. - Grant projects provided a total of 3,890 supervised visits and 5,784 supervised exchanges, 26 of which were returning or continuing clients.

Inspiration from the Community

Our agency also facilitated visits for a 12-week period for a father who was seeking visitation with his daughter after a brief time in prison. He seemed a bit nervous at first, but our volunteer helped him to adjust to the time with his daughter. He asked for some advice on how to interact with her and care for her, so our agency referred him to parenting classes in the community. At the end of the 12-week period, the girl's parents were able to reach a visitation agreement without the aid of our office or the Court."

Inspiration from the Community

"A mother and her young daughter, both sexually abused as children, received weekly family mentoring visits. Through the efforts of their Sexual Assault Response Team (SART) advocate, who is her family support worker, both are receiving counseling for this abuse. The mother comes from a family of multigenerational sexual abuse and is the first one in her family to seek therapy for her abuse. While her family resists her efforts to establish better boundaries, this mother has established some boundaries to protect her three young children from her relatives. This mother is attending parenting classes by CAPS and recently qualified for a first time home owner's loan. Our continued support will help this family continue to overcome some terrible issues in its past."

The transitional therapeutic community, located in Topeka, is part of a seamless treatment strategy, and the therapeutic community characteristics present in the facility component carry on in the community component.
